THE Marion county Judges who have been named for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination, are not entirely harmonious. If they could keep out of unpleasant personalities, there is no reason why the three should not calmly await the party call, and the two shake hands with the winner.

Marion county turned out handsome ly to greet General Goffamd Protection, paid for their trouble. There was a fine lots of good things in store for the people in this campaign oi the people for the good things of their own country.

ar John Jarrett in this city next Saturday night. Mr. Jarrett discusses the tariff question from the point of view of the wage-earner, with which interest he has so long been closely identified. He does not deal much in theory, though he is master of that. He deals with facts and their practical application. This is what both sides to the tariff controversy should welcome. The side that cannot survive a controversy so conducted is certainly unworthy of the confidence of the people of the United States.

How We Change!

In the Register of Saturday "a solitary horseman" might have read:

Bound to Get There.—How the Interpret of Crowd is Strugeling for Golf.

In conversation with the delegates a large number of a long to the contention. The structure of the contention of the people of the United States.

The Congressional Contest in Ohio County. Saturday's Republican primaries in Ohio county were contested with great opposition as ever went to the polls. His friends ran a Dovener ticket in every district, and nowhere did they give it up until the polls had closed. If Capt. Dovener were nominated he would go into the campaign with equal dash.

There were no Atkinson tickets. Mr. Atkinson's friends joined with the opposition to contest the claim that Capt. Dovener is the overwhelming choice of the Republicans of Ohio county. One of the results is to show that the contest opposition as ever went to the pells. His

of the results is to show that the contest was based on very substantial grounds.

While none of the anti-Dovener delegates are pledged to Mr. Atkinson, many are his warm personal friends, and some will probably insist upon his nomination, urging that his strong following in Ohio and other counties is sufficient marrant or their decided preference. With all or their decided preference. With all a. m.

this in his favor, Mr. Atkinson has fre quently said to his friends that he does ot insist upon the nomination unless he is considered entirely available and eminently a party man, has many elements of strength and if nominated would make a vigorous and able canvas; but whether he is just the man the convention ought to nominate the International Carlos and the convention ought to nominate the International Carlos and the convention ought to nominate the International Carlos and the convention will doubtless give proper consideration to his merits, as it say. Is Protection Unconstitutional?

Frank Leafe's Bastarda Newspoper (Dem.)

If one thing is settled more clearly than another, it is that the Democratic party of late years have not been friendly to either the principle or the policy of Protection. In 1832, under the Democratic leadership of Calboun, they rebelled in South Carolina against a protective tariff and took stees to prevent cither favor overriding the Constitution, or else they are hostile to protection as a principle, as the Republicans assert. If protection to home industries is "hobbery," as Mr. Watterson maintains, then he is either a robber or else is an enemy of protection, as the world knows. The quite recent attempt, therefore, to make the people of this country believe that the Democratic party is not unfriendly to protecting daties will prove a failure. The leaders of that party have placed themselves too often on the record in favor of the proposition that duties levied to secure protection are unconstitutional, and, more than that, that they are a legalized form of robbery.

Of course, a sufficient answer to all this ignorant pretension is, that all authorily to greet General Goffamd Protection, and the brethren were handsomely repaid for their trouble. There was a fine meeting and a fine speech. There are lots of good things in store for the people in this campaign oi the people for the good things of their own country.

In the Register of Sunday was the following comment on the primary election of Saturday night:

The lines were drawn tight between the friends of Capt. B. B. Dovener, on one side, and the 1NTELLIGENCER clique, working in the interests of Hon. A. W. Campbell, on the other.

From all which it appears that, so far as the Register is concerned, it can't see through a knothole. "Keep 'em guessing;" also, "Watch the professor."

Should be counted on. In conversation with the delegates a number can be counted on. In conversation with the delegates a number of men are mentioned for the head of the ticket, among whom are Mayor Hewitt, of New York; ex-Mayor Howitt, of New York; ex-Mayor Howitt,

It is only just to Capt. Dovener-to-say that the whole opposition centered on him, and that he made a spirited and telling fight against as determined an telling fight against as determined an unwilling to obstruct it by a veto.

THE CHAMPION KNOCKED OUT.

Boston, August 12 .- The startling news came to police headquarters just paign, the INTELLIGENCER believes, has before midnight last night that John L. Sullivan, Boston's first citizen, lay securely locked in the cell of a suburban will to those of Capt. Dovener, Mr. John A. Campbell and any others who may be brought before it.

The Burled Chieftain.

General Shéridan fought on the theory that the most merciful of warlike methods was that which soonest terminated the war. He realized that war is a destructive business, and the sooner it is over the better for both sides. So it happened that he was the roughest of the roughriders. He moved as the whirlwind moves and struck as the gentlest and kindest of men, as true warriors have been before.
